Child's Plea Saves Daddy from Death At Bandits' Hands

CHICAGO, March 27.—A child's plea, "Mister Bandit, please don't shoot daddy; he'll give you his money," caused one of two holdup men who were robbing a drugstore late yesterday to withhold fire from a pistol pointed at Thomas Murphy, a customer. Murphy, in the store with his son, showed fight and one robber had knocked him down. He surrendered $75. The robbers stole 64 pints of whisky, a quantity of narcotics and $75 from the drugstore.

Search for Seaplane's Victims Fails; Pilot's Story

MIAMI, Fla., March 27.—Graphic details of the loss of the flying boat Miss Miami, with five passengers, were given last night by Pilot Robert Moore from his bed in a local hospital, where he is slowly recovering from the effects of his 55-hour fight against thirst, starvation and the dangers of the gulf stream.

Moore had thrown off entirely the delirium from which he was suffering when picked up Saturday by the tanker William Green, but the attending physicians said there was grave danger of pneumonia developing from his exhausted condition and prolonged exposure.

While the pilot, still shaken with horror of his experience, told his story crews of seaplanes and naval craft were returning from a fruitless all-day search for the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. August Bulte and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence E. Smith of Kansas City and Mrs. J. S. Dickson of Memphis, who had occupied the passenger-pit of the Miss Miami when she took off Wednesday morning for a forty-minute flight to the island of Bimini. The search will be continued today.

VOIPLANED TO WATER.
"We left Miami," said Moore, "at 11:04 o'clock last Wednesday morning in the face of a stiff northeasterly wind. At 11:41, about three minutes out of Bimini, the engine broke off the propeller. I automatically looked for a ship or a shoal to land by. I saw a fishing smack and voiplaned down to the water about a mile away in its course."

"I asked the passengers not to be afraid. We were in no immediate danger and the craft was drawing near. The winds, however, were rising and before long the hull of the boat sprang a leak. The nose of the plane began rising. Then a big wave came along and lifted us. The plane turned over and we were all thrown into the sea."

"Mrs. Bulte came to the surface first, then Mr. Smith and Mrs. Smith. Of the three none could swim. I succeeded in getting them to the overturned plane. Mrs. Dickson and Mr. Bulte had not appeared on the surface. Mrs. Bulte made this discovery."

"My God, my husband, where is he?" Then she cried.
"I told her he would be all right in a few minutes and dove into the water, but I could not locate either her or Mrs. Dickson. Mrs. Bulte began to weep. I dove into the water and obtained cushions from the plane to use for life preservers. As I returned to them I saw the body of Bulte floating. I stepped directly in front of Mrs. Bulte and obstructed her view. As the body passed me I noted a wound on his forehead. He must have been killed before the struck the water when the plane overturned."

BOAT CHANGES COURSE.
"Within the next 30 minutes the scene changed twice. On the horizon we sighted the fishing boat. We began to laugh and contemplated being picked up. I was confident we would be saved. In fact I felt like whistling. I believe I did. It kept up my morale."

"And the fishing boat changed its course."
"I cannot understand in God's world why he did not keep on toward us. He knew I was in that locality somewhere, for he had seen me come down. I could see his name on the boat, less than half a mile away, as he went on."

"The winds rose during the night and the women grew weaker. At least twelve times they were swept over, but I swam out, and got them and brought them back each time. The next day our hopes rose as we saw other boats pass, but none came within less than a mile and a half of us. I tried to keep up the morale of the others by telling them they were soldiers. It helped marginally, but one of the women, Mrs. Smith, became utterly dejected."

DIES IN HUSBAND'S ARMS.
"We weathered the storm of Wednesday night after a terrible experience and Mrs. Bulte died Thursday. I saw Mr. and Mrs. Smith clasped in each other's arms and one of them suggested that they close their eyes and jump overboard. But they didn't, and Mrs. Smith died in her husband's arms. We released the bodies of the two women and they floated away."

"Thursday, as dusk approached, Smith grew delirious and I strapped him on. At times he appeared rational and asked me what chance I thought we had of being rescued. I told him I thought we would yet be saved, and he said:

"I don't see how we can hold out much longer. Don't you think I had a brave wife? I assured her that I had never seen a more courageous woman."

SENDS DYING MESSAGE.
"All right, Bob," he answered, "promise that if you return you will tell her sons how brave their mother was. Tell them the facts and tell them the end of the story. You will know as no other how I died. Tell them for me boy."

"He removed three dollar bills from his pocket and asked me to give one to each of his three boys with this dying message."

"I pushed his body into the sea and all alone kept up my courage as best I could. The sun's heat had blistered me, and the thirst was maddening. I chewed the ends of my fingers until blood came to appease my thirst. I saw boats pass and waved to them, but none saw me. As dusk approached Friday night I began to believe that it was all up. I tied a rope to my neck, but I was so weak that it seemed there was not much use. I guess I was unconscious when the boat came after me, for I don't remember much more."

Shidehara to Sail From S. F. April 2
WASHINGTON, March 27.—Ambassador Shidehara of Japan called at the White House today and said good-bye to President Harding, preparatory to leaving tonight for San Francisco, to sail, April 2, for Japan. The Japanese minister, on leaving the White House, said he would be gone several months, and might possibly have to undergo an operation in Japan. He said that he hoped he would be able to return to Washington in the fall.

English Flier Is Accused of Murder
LONDON, March 27.—(By the Associated Press).—A coroner's jury, which held an inquest over the body of Gertrude Yates, otherwise Olive Young, whose body was found some time ago in the bathroom of her flat in Kensington, today returned a verdict of wilful murder against Major Ronald True, an English aviator, who lived some time in the United States.

Congressman Hurt in Auto Smash May Die
WICHITA Falls, Tex., March 27.—Congressman Parish, who was injured in an automobile accident recently, is expected to live but a few hours. His physicians reported this morning. He suffered dilation of the heart yesterday afternoon and was still unconscious this morning with temperature of 103.

155 Germans Fell Every Hour During Great World War
BERLIN, March 27.—(By the Associated Press).—Forty-six men were killed and 109 wounded on the German side during every hour the world war was raging, according to an estimate arrived at by General Von Altrick, a statistician. This estimate was made from a study of official records.

Germany's losses totaled in dead, 1,808,545, and in wounded 4,246,779. Men to the number of 13,000,000 were under arms during the course of the war, of whom about one in seven was killed in battle.

"The officers' corps lost 53,000 men killed and 96,000 wounded. German soldier and civilian losses through death, caused directly or indirectly by the war, are estimated by General Von Altrick at 12,000,000."

Bodies of Drowned Scouts Are Recovered
SOUTH BEND, Ind., March 27.—The bodies of the eight members of the South Bend Boy Scouts organization, who were drowned Saturday at Magician Lake, near Dowagiac, Mich., were recovered yesterday.

L. L. McDonald, director of the department of camping, New York, and J. F. Freeman, assistant national director of the Boy Scouts of America, came to South Bend today to investigate the report that negligence had caused the accident. They reported that every precaution had been taken for the protection of the scouts.

Coal-Laden Vessel Sinks, Blocks Port
NEWPORT NEWS, Va., March 27.—The Panama bark Maria Borges, loaded with coal, mysteriously sank in the harbor here early today, blocking the channel to the shipyards. Several of her crew escaped in small boats. They reported that the craft filled rapidly and went down a short time after they found she was leaking. She went down in 40 feet of water, leaving only the tips of her masts protruding.

Million Loot From Ship Board Vessels
NEW YORK, March 27.—Federal service men and police joined forces today in an effort to arrest an organized band of looters believed responsible for the stripping of between $400,000 and $1,000,000 worth of furnishings from United States Shipping Board vessels anchored in the Hudson near Peekskill. The looting was discovered during inspection of the 164 ships wintering in the river.

anese diet somewhat overshadowed the importance of ratification of the four-power Pacific treaty by the United States senate, but such opinions as have been given expression indicate mated satisfaction.

The Asahi Shimbun says the senate's action endorses the labors of the Washington conference although the newspaper sees no justification for adoption of the "no alliance" reservation which it says is not in accord with the spirit of the text of the treaty and which contradicts the principles advanced by the American delegates to the conference. It says the American government will now have to explain to the other powers that the reservation was only a question of interpretation.

The Osaka Mainichi Bulletin says that while ratification of the treaty was concluded by legitimate representatives it does not mark any extraordinary event in international affairs. The action of the senate in view of its former attitude toward the treaty of Versailles, it says, is most especially welcomed as helping to restore the world's confidence in America, and on this President Harding and the American government must be congratulated.

LONDON, March 27.—(By the Associated Press).—A coroner's jury, which held an inquest over the body of Gertrude Yates, otherwise Olive Young, whose body was found some time ago in the bathroom of her flat in Kensington, today returned a verdict of wilful murder against Major Ronald True, an English aviator, who lived some time in the United States.

Congressman Hurt in Auto Smash May Die
WICHITA Falls, Tex., March 27.—Congressman Parish, who was injured in an automobile accident recently, is expected to live but a few hours. His physicians reported this morning. He suffered dilation of the heart yesterday afternoon and was still unconscious this morning with temperature of 103.

155 Germans Fell Every Hour During Great World War
BERLIN, March 27.—(By the Associated Press).—Forty-six men were killed and 109 wounded on the German side during every hour the world war was raging, according to an estimate arrived at by General Von Altrick, a statistician. This estimate was made from a study of official records.

29 ARRESTED IN PRE-DAWN RAID ON S.F. APARTMENT

Oakland Man in Party Nabbed
as Police Surprise Bush Street Building.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 27.—Charges ranging from prohibition law violators to being inmates or visitors of a disorderly house have been lodged against 29 persons arrested in an early morning raid on the Kearny-Bush apartments, 429 Bush street.

Five police officers headed by Captain A. D. Layne of the Central station, together with two prohibition officers, conducted the raid. Several futile attempts at escape were made by men and women in the place.

Among those arrested was Mrs. E. Fibeling, said to be the proprietor of the establishment. She was charged with conducting a disorderly house and violating the prohibition law.

Adelle Reneau, 233 Clement street, said to be a juvenile court ward, is alleged to have been found occupying a room with William Layton of 836 Broderick street. Charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor were lodged against Layton and Miss Louise Winn of 630 Broderick street.

Flo Mitchell of 429 Bush street was charged with soliciting. John Souza, 2823 Grove street, Oakland, was included among those charged with visiting a disorderly house.

GEORGE WHITTELL, FINANCIER, DIES

SAN FRANCISCO, March 27.—George Whittell Sr., son of Hugh Whittell, one of the passengers on the famous old sidewheeler California, the first steamship to pass through the Golden Gate, and himself a pioneer of San Francisco, died yesterday at his home, 1155 California street. He was president of the Eureka and Nevada Railroad, vice-president of the Donohue-Kelly Banking Company, director of the Associated Oil Company, the First National Bank and interested in many other corporations. A widow, Mrs. Anna Luning Whittell, and two sons, George Jr. and Alfred Whittell, survive. George Whittell succeeded his father as head of the George Whittell Realty Company two months ago.

The funeral will take place at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow from St. Mary's Cathedral.

Whittell was born in New York 73 years ago. He came with his parents while young to San Francisco.

Among the clubs with which Whittell was identified are: University, Pacific Union, Metropolitan of New York, Bankers of New York, Metropolitan of Washington, D. C., California Pioneers, Menlo Country Club, Burlingame Country Club, San Francisco Golf and Country Club.

LABORER HIT ON HEAD, LOSES $150

Struck over the head with a blunt instrument and robbed of $150 last night, John Sutter, a laborer, was thrown on a street car, where he was found in a bleeding and semiconscious condition by the conductor, who notified the police.

The man was taken to the Emergency hospital, where he was treated for a deep gash over the left temple and is being held by the police today while his story is being investigated.

He told Police Inspectors Eddie O'Donnell and Louis Kirsch that last night he went to a Chinese noodle establishment in Emeryville. He met several men, he said, and did not remember anything else until he was put on a street car at Thirty-fourth and Hollis streets.

Four-Power Pact to Raze 'Chinese Wall'

Ratification of the four-power treaty means the breaking down by America of her "Chinese wall," according to Rabbi Rudolph I. Cohen, who spoke on "The Conflict Between Religion and Science" at the Temple Sinai.

"This is a historic event in American life," said Rabbi Cohen. "Ninety-nine years ago President James Monroe said to the European nations 'Hands off the new world,' and now President Harding will be able to say to Europe and Asia, 'Let us work together for the peace of the world.'"

"America, the richest country in the world, may now assume her natural place of leader to other nations. Just because we have the wealth, let us serve and help suffering humanity. No part of America will benefit more by this ratification than the Pacific Coast, for right here is history to be written in future years."

Farmer Slays Wife, Mother-in-Law, Self

MARIETTA, O., March 26.—Dewey Britton, 33, a farmer living near Torch, Athens county, today shot and killed his 17-year-old wife and her mother, Mrs. Roy Clarke, 50, and then ended his own life with a shotgun. Neighbors who arrived shortly after the shooting found the three bodies and the Brittons' baby daughter crying in a baby carriage nearby.

Mrs. Britton had been separated from her husband.

Matron Shoots Herself; May Die

LINCOLN, Neb., March 27.—Mrs. Ralph Breiner, whose parents she said live at St. Joseph, Mo., shot herself, probably fatally, last night following what police assert was a quarrel with her husband, from whom she had been separated several months. At the hospital where she was taken the physician has little hope for her recovery.

French Time Is Advanced an Hour

PARIS, March 27.—The putting into operation of "summer time" at midnight last night resulted in the procession which was formed, to proceed to a chosen point for the celebration of the centenary of the birth of Henri Murger, a French writer, arriving after the ceremony had ended. There also was a sparse attendance in the chairs and at other meetings owing to the setting of the clock forward an hour.

Armistice Accepted For Greek Armies

PARIS, March 27 (By the Associated Press).—The Greek government has accepted the proposal made by the allied foreign ministers last week for an armistice between Greece and the Turkish Nationalists. The reply to the proposal of the ministers, however, contains technical reservations on the military conditions.

Bandit's Shot Fatal To Washington Man

PORT ANGELES, Wash., March 27.—Ray Light, 33, a logger, died yesterday morning of wounds received Saturday night, when two masked bandits held up thirty men playing cards in the recreation hall of the Port Discovery Logging Company's camp, four miles from Maynard. Light was shot in the back by one of the robbers. The bandits are believed by Sheriff William Nelson to be members of the gang which robbed the State Bank of Sequim of $22,000 in cash and negotiable securities early Friday morning and afterwards wounded Deputy Sheriff Rex McInness in a pistol fight.

'AIDA' WILL OPEN OPERATIC SEASON IN S. F. TONIGHT

Chicago Organization Arrives for Two-Week Stay at Auditorium.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 27.—Commencing with Verdi's ever popular "Aida," the Chicago Opera Company ushers in its second annual San Francisco season at the Civic Auditorium tonight. The organization arrived this morning and will remain two weeks.

The company consists of one of the greatest ensembles over which Mary Garden ever held sway. It numbers 400 participants, including forty of the world's most famous stars in opera and an immense chorus, besides an orchestra considered the finest that ever attended grand opera. The opera company also includes a trained ballet under the direction of Andrej Pavlov and Serge Oukrainsky. Two carloads of scenery, costumes and electric stage appliances accompanied the special train section on which the company made its transcontinental journey. The opera company has at its disposal in San Francisco a stage which has been specially constructed and which rivals in size the largest stages of the world.

Evidently Mary Garden, Muratore and Giorgio Polacco have—as artists will—made up their alleged quarrel and have decided, for art's sake, to "let bygones be bygones." For they are all with the opera company, as Rosa Raisa, the world's greatest dramatic soprano; Edward Johnson, America's famous tenor; Eleanor Reynolds, a San Francisco girl; Edouard Courtneil, Virgilio Lazzari, Margery Maxwell, Oliverio and many other stars. Tomorrow night Montemezzi's "The Love of Three Kings" will be given, in which the "big three"—Mary Garden, Muratore and Baklanoff—will take part.

On Wednesday night "Rigoletto" is on the program, and on Thursday night "Tannhauser" will be sung in German, marking the first rendition of a Wagner opera in that language since the war. The other operas to follow are "The Juggler of Notre Dame," "Romeo and Juliet," "Jewels of the Madonna," "Louise," "Madame Butterfly," "Norma," "Salome," "La Boheme," "Girl of the Golden West" and "Donna Vanna."

Bridge Guests At Claremont Country Club

Forty of the younger girls were guests Saturday afternoon at a bridge tea at the Claremont Country Club when Miss Helen Hardy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hardy of Berkeley, entertained in honor of Miss Angelina Searls, whose marriage to Theodore Michels will be a social event, in St. John's Presbyterian church, April 18. Miss Searls will have a retinue of attendants and before her marriage will be the incentive for many beautiful affairs.

The Holy Branch of the Baby Hospital Association will meet tomorrow with Mrs. Rudolph Ver Mehr at 2801 Jackson street, San Francisco. This branch through an arrangement with a local tobacco merchant, is prepared to take orders for all kinds of tobacco, cigars and cigarettes, delivering the same day. The proceeds will go to the Baby Hospital fund.

JAMES FOLEY AT FINE ARTS.

The University Fine Arts society announces that it will present James W. Foley, poet, humorist and writer at its regular meeting in the colonial ball room at the St. Francis Hotel, March 31 at 2:30 p. m. Mr. Foley has attained the place in American life that was so worthily held by Eugene Field.

Foley has been for twenty years a contributor to the leading magazines, and for almost that long he has been engaged in journalistic work. He was secretary to two governors, and was three times secretary of a state senate.

Mr. Foley is the one poet to speak before the Fine Arts society, most of the recent lecturers having been diplomats and authorities in the fields of literature, music and art. Mr. Foley will be heard exclusively at the coming meeting of the University Fine Arts society, and will return immediately to his work in the south.

Those invited to sit at the speaker's table are: Admiral and Mrs. Charles Gove, Mr. and Mrs. Peter B. Kyne, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick O'Brien, Admiral and Mrs. Gots, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Elder, Mrs. Louis A. Schwabacher, and Mrs. Marcus Koshmand, Mrs. Thorne Mullanly, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brown and Mrs. Arthur Pope, Mrs. George Boyd, Mrs. William Hinckley Taylor will preside.

TO SAIL FOR THE CONTINENT.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Volkman will leave April 11 for New York and a few weeks later are to go to Europe. Their little daughter will remain with her grandmother, Mrs. William Simpson, at the Fairmont. June 3 Mrs. Edson Adams and her daughters, Julia, Elita and Elizabeth sail for the other side and will be on the same steamer as the George de la Tours and Miss Helene de la Tours. They will remain abroad indefinitely.

CARD CLUBS TO MEET.

Miss Katherine Armstrong will entertain the members of a card club tomorrow afternoon at her home in Vernon Heights. Another bridge club will convene at the home of Mrs. Malcolm Campbell, its personnel a group of the younger matrons. At the home of Mrs. Robert Weber tomorrow a group of the younger girls of the Junior Auxiliary of the Ladies' Relief will meet to

WASHINGTON, March 27.—The civil service commission today announced that there would be open competitive examinations on April 25 for the postmastership at Glendale, Cal.

OFFICIALS ARE INVITED TO CITY PLANNING RALLY

Parks and Other Civic Necessities to Be Considered by Berkeley Forum.

BERKELEY, March 27.—Mayors and councilmen of San Francisco, Oakland, Alameda, Richmond, Piedmont and Albany have been invited to a conference on city planning arranged by the Berkeley Chamber of Commerce as the second of a series of public forums devoted to a discussion of civic problems.

As principal speaker of the evening will be Frederick S. Lamb, eminent city planner and artist of New York, who, in preparation for his address, is devoting a period of intensive study to the city planning problem of Berkeley in relation to other cities of the bay region. In addition to city officials many of the well-known engineers, architects and real estate men of the Eastbay have been invited to join in the discussion.

Lamb's address will be followed by brief talks by Bernard Maybeck and Oscar Barber of the city planning commission of Berkeley, and Lieutenant Governor C. C. Young, who will lead the forum discussion. Max Thelan, chairman of the forum committee, will open the meeting. It is planned by Chamber of Commerce officials to make this meeting the first step in securing a coordinated plan for the development of port facilities, railroad terminals, highways, boulevards, parks and other civic necessities of the bay cities. The meeting is open to the public.

A monument to Beethoven is to be erected in the city of Mexico by the German colony there.

MAN ENTERS WRONG HOUSE; GETS 'PLUGGED'

PORTLAND, Ore., March 27.—H. Petikas, night worker in a restaurant, mistook a neighbor's house for one into which he himself had just moved when he returned from work yesterday. The neighbors, Harry K. King, thought Petikas was a burglar and shot him through the shoulder. Petikas will recover.

SCHOOL PREPARES ORIENTAL PAGEANT

Final arrangements for the forthcoming spring carnival of the University high school were made this afternoon at a meeting of the central committee in the school auditorium.

"A Trip Through the Orient" is the title of the pageant, and according to plans each class will represent an Oriental country. Those to be represented are Manchuria, India, Hawaii, Arabia, Siberia, Philippines, South Sea Islands, China and Japan. For the past two weeks rehearsals have been going on under the direction of Madeline Cornell, the manager, and the class committee. Phil Schulte, construction manager, has been building his sets, which include a Japanese pagoda to be erected at the entrance to the school grounds. A big feature of the carnival will be the booths showing dainty edibles. This is under the management of Florence Carter, who has listed French pastries, scones, doughnuts, chocolate and forty gallons of soft drinks among the things to be sold during the carnival. Miss Emma Jane McCall is in charge of the post designs.

Gwen D. Young, vice-president of the General Electric company, has been decorated with the Order of the Rising Sun by the emperor of Japan.

THEATRE PROGRAM BY CHILDREN, PLAN

The Children's Theater of Oakland, fostered by the recreation department, will be launched in Chabot hall at 2 p. m. Saturday. Growups will be invited to fill up the audience but will be ruled out of the stage except as they contribute to the story-telling hour. The project has been conceived by Mrs. E. A. Hollington, pageant director. Programs will be given on alternate Saturdays.

An April's Fool dance, by Jane Magnus, Doris Hatten and Gladys Hendricks; "The Grand Baby Show" put on by children from the Oakland Social Settlement; a folk dance by students from Cole school; and practice of the Chabot yell will precede the colorful play, "Meadow Gold," which Poplar street playground children are responsible for. The following cast has been recruited:

Rooster, Margaret Fordick; Cardinal, Irene Delvecchio; Robin, Esther Olsen; Wren, Incarnation Johnson; Oriole, Violet Robello; Blue Jay, Katherine Montesoni; Collie, Mabel Steiner; Swallow, May Alette; Yellowhammer, Mildred Strong; Blackbird, Rosie Brown; Meadow Lark, Ellen York; Post Boy, Henry Delvachio; Frogs, Marie Manes and Elsie Nelson; Rabbits, Annie Kitchner; Varsa Jones and Annie Kitchner; Fairies, Helen Olsen, Katherine Thompson, Mamie Wall, Edith Syberg, Mayme Stuckert, Wanda O'Brien; Queen of Fairies, Vesta Hanlin; Rosemary, Ellen Nelson; Maud, Edna Alarie; Mayme, Dorothy Nathansen; Madge, Mamie Faturio; Butterflies, Eva Peterson, Juanita Johnson, June Alarie.

Orchestral classes from the Emerson school will provide the music. Henry and Julian Persoglia will give a clarinet and cornet duet. Dumont Watson will render a French horn solo.

A playground matinee is announced for Thursday at 3:30 p. m. at Tompkins school. "Virginia Heroines" and "Tom Tit Tot" will be presented.

MRS. HARDING TO SAVE THREE BOYS HELD AS THIEVES

Lads 7, 8 and 11 Given Five-Year Terms for Robbery, to Get Liberty.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Three small boys, aged 7, 8 and 11, now serving five-year prison terms for alleged burglary of a postoffice in West Virginia, will soon gain their liberty and be returned to their parents through the interest and intervention of Mrs. Warren G. Harding. It was learned today.

An investigation of their cases by the Department of Justice, which followed Mrs. Harding's intervention, disclosed an unusual set of circumstances which led to the imprisonment of these "youthful desperadoes." Officials said today they never should have been sentenced, not alone because of their tender years, but also because the evidence in their cases did not warrant conviction. They have already served about six months in the national reformatory school here.

The lads are Andy Bergson, Frank Bosko, aged 8, and Teddy Bosko, aged 11. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bergson, of Weirton, W. Va., were tried in the Federal court of Northern West Virginia before Judge Baker and were sentenced, along with seven other older boys, ranging in years up to 15, each to five years at penal servitude.

The chief evidence against the youngsters, it is shown, was furnished by the bloodhounds. The dogs used by the local police of Weirton took up a scent at the point of the alleged robbery and tracked it through the woods to a settlement of steel workers. There the police gathered up the ten boys, and on what is now said to have been purely circumstantial evidence, all were found guilty. The attorney-general's investigation showed today that the three youngsters, along with the seven other alleged "desperadoes," as they were called by the district attorney, were put through the third degree and that police officers at Weirton wrung confessions of guilt from the boys. The boys later denied their guilt and so pleaded, but apparently were victims of police prejudice in a locality where the steel workers are under the lash of police authority.

Warren Martin, assistant to the attorney-general, visited the lads, investigated the facts, and declared today that steps were being taken to return the boys to their parents. They probably will be pardoned by the President.

Stephens to Talk To Boulevard Club

STARLIGHT

by Leah McGlone Gibson

Virginia Fairfax, daughter of the first family in Virginia, rebels against the puritanical rule of her grandfather and, lured by Filmland, runs away to become a motion picture actress. Arriving in Los Angeles, she meets Gloria Summers, who is in the movies. They become warm friends. They meet Herbert Richardson, a wealthy young man who has been attracted to Gloria. Gloria accepts, for herself and Virginia, Herbert's invitation to a party. Virginia tries dancing and likes it. Herb Richardson says that the party go to the Turkish Village for coffee. Herb Richardson urges the party to stay in the Turkish Village, but this and Virginia plead that they must leave. Herb is exasperated at their departure.

What is it all about? asked Gloria excitedly. "I knew it would come, I told Herb so. Those girls don't care what they do. They will go anywhere with anyone for the sake of booze. That is their idea of a good time. Tell me about it."

"All I know, Ria, is that both girls are quite ill and have been taken to the hospital. Someone said that Herb was trying to hush it up so that it would not get in the news papers."

On the set, everybody, on the assistant director Tommy Warner, the assistant director.

"That means you, Virginia," "Oh, what shall I do? Oh, what shall I do? I am frightened."

"Don't worry. Just follow the crowd."

Before anything more could be said the assistant director came up to me and asked: "Have you an evening coat with you?"

Before I could answer Gloria thrust her cape toward me, saying: "Oh, turn mine inside out. It will look all right and I don't need it in this scene."

"Here, get your coat and hat," Tom Warner said to a good-looking boy who was standing near. But when the boy brought them he shouted: "Your hat won't do at all. Who's got a silk hat?" Three or four were thrust toward him.

"Here, take these. You two come in this door. You with your overcoat over your arm and your hat in your left hand; and you, Miss, with your cape on. You escort her to this door, where she leaves her cape. Then you leave her and walk across the set to this door, go through quickly and return without your coat and hat. Again walk across stage and stand waiting for her. She comes out through door. You welcome her with a smile. That's your action." And he left us to give directions to several others.

I was hurriedly trying to say over in my mind these directions. I knew I would forget them, and beside I was fussed because I had never met this boy before. He was well-dressed, and as he came forward he said: "I am Jack Thompson, Miss."

"Winston," I managed to answer. "Virginia Winston. This is the first time that I have met you on a set and I am so frightened, Mr. Thompson."

"Don't you worry, Virginia. I know the ropes."

I wasn't quite sure whether he should have called me "Virginia" or not, but he looked so kind and utterly unconscious of breaking any of the conventions that I decided that I would only make myself ridiculous by calling his attention to them.

"I'm glad he happened to pick me for your partner. I'm not sure whether I am your brother, your lover or your husband. Do you know whether we are supposed to be married or not?" I don't.

"I don't ask anything about it. I told you before that I never had been on the set until this morning."

"Well, you have made a hit all right, Virginia, and I am in luck to have the director single me out to be your partner to play this bit. It insures us at least two more days' work."

"Isn't that nice?" I answered. "Places, please. Lights. We'll rehearse it once." The director called through his megaphone.

"Oh," I exclaimed as the lights flared up into my eyes. "They fairly hurt me!"

"Action!" I started in toward the door when the boy grabbed me back to say: "Wait until he calls our number." I had forgotten that the director had given us the number "one."

"Music! Everybody dance! No. 1. No. 4." He may have called other numbers, but I don't remember, for we were moving through the door.

CONGRESSIONAL FIGHT LOOMS ON LEATHER DUTIES

Senate Action on Proposed Tariff Expected to Stir Up Heated Row.

By CARL D. GROAT.
United Press Staff Correspondent.
WASHINGTON, March 27.—

Senate finance committee action in putting a duty on hides, boots, shoes and leather, is destined to start a fight in congress, the consequences of which may be as great as those of the row a decade ago over "schedule K" in the Payne-Aldrich bill.

The proposed tariff, if retained, will make shoes cost from 30 to 50 cents a pair more than at present, according to authoritative figures furnished the United Press today.

Representative Hawley, Oregon, formerly for such a tariff, is now strongly opposed to it.

As the tariff bill passed the House, hides, boots, shoes and leather were on the free list. The Senate finance committee Republicans, however, determined upon a 15 per cent ad valorem duty on hides, a 10 per cent ad valorem on boots and shoes and 10 to 25 per cent on leather.

Hawley figures that only the packer-tanner would benefit from the new regime. The farmer-stock man would get an estimated $34,000,000 for his products, but he and his farm workers would have to pay $38,600 more for their products than would be the case under a free list.

He estimates that the average increase in the prices of shoes would be 40 cents a pair.

In addition to the hides battles, there will be a fight on the sugar schedule and probably on the lumber schedule. Louisiana, the great cane growing state, wants two cents a pound duty on Cuban sugar, while the finance committee Republicans have fixed the rate at 1.6 cents a pound. Likewise, the Louisiana growers were displeased with the mild treatment accorded blackstrap molasses, used for feeding cattle.

Tomorrow—Virginia's First Day in the Movies.

ALBERT VERD IS REPORTED MISSING

Mrs. Emma Verd of San Francisco has appealed to the Oakland police department to find her son, Albert Verd, 25 years old, who has been missing since February 15.

Verd is an ex-soldier. About two months ago he returned from the oil fields in Taft. At the time he came home his mother says that he had several thousand dollars. She fears that her son may have met with foul play.

Mrs. Verd says that she went to have a capital operation performed two weeks ago, but that she postponed it hoping that her son would return home before she went to the hospital.

He is described as being 5 feet 6 inches tall and weighs 150 pounds. He has blue eyes and brown hair. When he left home he wore a blue suit and a light brown hat.

Mrs. Verd resides at 1373 California street, San Francisco.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them. 15c and 30c.—Advertisement.

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

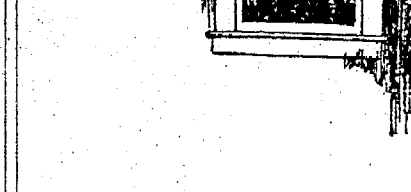

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They ease the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth," bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—weak headache—torpid liver—constipation—you can have quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them. 15c and 30c.—Advertisement.

Before you Wash CURTAINS this Spring—

Read This:

Before you struggle this spring with the bothersome business of washing curtains and pinning them to the floor, or on an old-fashioned frame, call us.

We have just installed a wonderful new Curtain Dryer and Finisher which enables us to finish your curtains exactly to measure, without the use of a single hook or pin to mar the fabric. Edges and scallops are perfectly true.

Before washing the curtains, we measure them. After a cleansing bath in rain-soft water and bubbly suds, we dry them—no pulling or stretching is necessary; your curtains come back exactly their original size and shape, daintily and professionally finished.

Send us your curtains—our service will delight you. Phone us today and our representative will call.

DANVILLE SCHOOL
BONDS APPROVED
BY HEAVY VOTE

Children Parade in Campaign to Replace Ancient Building With Modern School.

DANVILLE, March 27.—Danville school children and a big majority of the town's population are celebrating today the approval by voters of the school-district Friday of a $20,000 bond issue for construction of a new school. The issue was voted 158 to 34.

Everyone admits that the biggest factor in passing the bonds was the burlesque parade of school students.

Although the majority admitted Danville's need of a school, Miss Snow and her students did not let their opportunity to impress clearly on the minds of everyone that the need was imperative. The burlesque parade made its way from one end of the town to the other, and by banner and pantomime exhorted voters to cast their ballots for a school.

A crippled boy who had been injured by plaster falling from the old school building, Steve Johnson Jr., was also crippled. His injuries came from a fall through a hole in the floor of the old structure. Mary Podva, blind as a bat, was also a cripple. The building was led by her schoolmates.

Victor Yeckel was a corpse in a coffin, but it was admitted he was alive "dead boy." He represented "mossback," and a banner bore the admonition "Bury him dead." Frede Beers, under the "mossback" label, controlled the boys in their rallying place. A replica of an old dilapidated school building brought up the end of the strange procession.

EASTBAY CITIES ALLIED IN MOVE TO CALL ELECTION

Vote on Question of Formation of Utilities District Wanted by Aug. 29.

The city council of Oakland, simultaneously with the councils of Berkeley, Richmond, Alameda, San Leandro, Piedmont and all the other Eastbay cities, with the exception of Albany, this morning adopted a resolution that the public interest demands an election be called for the formation of a public utilities district, and asking the board of supervisors to call a general election for this purpose, not later than August 29.

Albany has already adopted the resolution. The other cities all agreed to adopt it today. The Berkeley council held a special meeting. All the councils adopted the resolution unanimously.

The Oakland council also approved a recommendation by the city planning commission, asking that the proposed widening of East Fourteenth street from Fifty-fourth to Eighty-third avenues be abandoned. It is too expensive just now, said Commissioner W. J. Bacus. "The people object."

The city planning commission also recommended the closing of Arlington avenue, and Fifty-seventh street, east of Grove. These matters were referred to the street department.

A report was received from the municipal board for February, showing that 11,412 meals and 5218 lodgings were given during the month to 1368 men.

A communication was received from the Dimond Improvement club, asking the improvement of Dimond park. It was referred to the park department.

The superintendent of streets was empowered to remove 27 old trees from East Fourteenth street, near Stanley road, at a cost of $5 per tree.

"Paint Mine" Board Changes Approved

The petition of Mrs. Ada Anthony Tate in the superior court to permit the filling of two vacancies in the board of trustees of an Oakland company operating a large "paint mine" in San Diego was granted today by Superior Judge Joseph S. Koford. According to the petition, its purpose was to make possible the winding up of the affairs of the company, which became defunct in 1919, by selling the "paint mine," which experts, Mrs. Tate said, have declared to be of great value.

The vacancies, which were caused by the death of the late Dr. Mabel E. Anthony of Oakland and the illness of Mrs. Margaret Standford, are to be filled by Victorine F. Anthony and Fred S. Osgood.

Hotels Prepare For Shrine Rush

The Oakland hotels are reported to be doing more than their share in providing accommodations on the campus of the Shrine of the Báb, who are coming here from all parts of the United States to attend the national convention in June next. J. C. Jurgens, general manager of the Hotel Oakland, has placed 100 rooms at the St. Mark, where the management expects to accommodate 300 delegates.

The Shrine of the Báb, Southern California, has at its disposal 100 rooms at the St. Mark, where the management expects to accommodate 300 delegates.

Taps Are Sounded For Lloyd Nielsen

Taps were sounded for Sergeant Lloyd Nielsen of the O. T. C. at a memorial service on the campus of the Technical High school today. Sergeant Nielsen died at his home, 4915 Manila avenue, following a brief illness. He was a popular member of Company B, under command of Lieutenant Guy Street, and uniformed reserves acted as pallbearers.

Captain Robert Clayton, senior officer of the battalion and acting major, was in charge of the military services. The battalion was brought to "present arms" while the military band played "Nearer, My God, to Thee."

Wife Is in Court On Husband's Charge

Following her arrest some weeks ago on a statutory charge, Mrs. Gladys I. Parker appeared in Superior Judge T. W. Harrier's court today to answer accusations of her husband, Sterling D. Parker, that she had taken their two young sons and gone to live with Frank E. Everett at 1110 Linden street.

Both Mrs. Parker and Everett were arrested while sitting at the Linden street address, it is charged. "Parker asserted that his wife had taught their two sons, Robert, three years old, and Richard, one, to call Everett 'daddy' and ask divorce and custody of the two children."

BERKELEY STRING QUARTET TO PLAY

BERKELEY, March 27.—The first chamber musical recital of the recently organized Berkeley String Quartet will be given tomorrow evening under the patronage of the Berkeley Chamber of Commerce.

For several years Antonio de Grassi, Berkeley violinist, has been working toward the organization of a quintet of high-grade artists. It is announced that he has brought such a group together.

The members of the quartet are Antonio de Grassi, first violin; Robert Rourke, second violin; Pietro Brescia, viola; and Welden Dehn, cello. Brescia is a son of the American composer.

Elizabeth Simpson, the pianist, will be the soloist of the first program. She has long taken an active interest in the advancement of this community's musical life.

De Grassi's "Rhapsodic Prelude" was played recently by Ashley Pettis, the Berkeley pianist, at a concert in New York. It is also announced that Cecil Fanning will feature de Grassi's "Song of the Dagger" during his tour of England.

TWO ACCUSED OF BURGLARY.

A warrant charging Charles E. Jesting and Eugene Williams with burglary was shown out today by Mrs. Estelle Stringer, who lives at the St. Paul hotel. She alleges that the men stole clothing and jewelry valued at $100 from her room. The police suspect that the two men are implicated in several other burglaries in this city.

POUND TAKEN IN $122.

The first week's collection from the new municipal pound was $122.50, according to the first report issued by the new institution, which asserts that this return on a $3000 investment is a "start in the right direction." This does not include collections from licenses, but it does include redeemed animals and fines.

The Hungarian parliament is considering a bill creating a government monopoly in all advertising.

OAKLAND LOSES STREET, BUT IT IS FOUND AGAIN

The city of Oakland, which recently found a street it didn't know it had, lost the street again this morning, but regained it ere noon had passed.

The street is the ancient one which runs along Sausal creek. It is on the old map of Oakland, but the city forgot about it, and in time several gardeners who wanted to extend their acreage built fences across the street, and prospered.

But a week or so ago the street was found to be on the map and the fence was taken down. This morning, to the consternation of the city of Oakland, the fence was up again. A street department gang tore it down again. At latest writing the street is clear, but the city is not yet sure.

"If we have to go to war about it, we'll go to war," promises City Engineer W. W. Harmon.

Elizabeth Simpson, the pianist, will be the soloist of the first program. She has long taken an active interest in the advancement of this community's musical life.

BOOTLEGGERS TRAPPED WITH MARKED MONEY

The marked silver dollar has become the terror of Oakland bootleggers and was instrumental in effecting the arrest of three of their number yesterday, when marked money was found in the possession of Elijah Burkhalter, Peter D. Santina and Charles Faber, after they are alleged to have sold Jackass brandy to prohibition enforcement officers.

Burkhalter was arrested at 5915 East Fourteenth street. The entire stock of the new institution, which asserts that this return on a $3000 investment is a "start in the right direction." This does not include collections from licenses, but it does include redeemed animals and fines.

Improvement Club Organizer Resigns

D. F. McCarthy, 3533 Dimond avenue, one of the charter members of the Dimond Improvement Club, has tendered his resignation from the organization following his charge that some of the officers are looking out for their own interests and those of a few merchants rather than the entire community. His letter follows:

I hereby tender my resignation as a member of the Dimond Improvement Club. The attitude of some of the officers at the present time is to look out for their own personal interest and that of a few merchants and to discredit the majority of merchants and the majority of residents. It would be a great help to the community and club if the officers would look at it in the right light and change their attitude.

I will in the future, as I have in the past, stand ready to do a favor for anybody in the Dimond district, whether they be a member of the club or not.

HEALTH SCHOOL, COLBOURN PLAN

A school to teach public health work to the employees of the city health department is suggested in a letter from Commissioner Frank Colbourn to Dr. Harry Foster, city health officer, as a means for increasing the general efficiency of the health department.

The idea, according to Colbourn, is to keep the health department in constant touch with the most modern developments of this work, and University of California professors would be asked to cooperate. Dr. Foster is now considering the best way to start the school.

Program Advertising Warning Is Issued

"Don't buy program advertising space from a stranger." This was the advice issued by the Better Business Bureau today following the exposure of the latest thing in get-rich-quick swindles—the souvenir program sale.

Several unidentified youths are said to be responsible for this latest method of getting something for nothing.

For several days past, it is alleged, they have been making the rounds of local business houses selling a souvenir program for the "Bell Boys' Ball," which they said was to be held Saturday night, March 25, at Native Sons hall, Oakland.

Investigation brought out the following facts: The "Bell Boys' Ball" was not held at Native Sons' hall Saturday night.

The solicitors could not be located at the hotel, where they had been staying.

The printing bill for publishing the programs has not been settled.

Amount involved in the swindle is said to have been $110. The entire stock of the new institution, which asserts that this return on a $3000 investment is a "start in the right direction." This does not include collections from licenses, but it does include redeemed animals and fines.

The Hungarian parliament is considering a bill creating a government monopoly in all advertising.

Two S. F. Cafes Face Abatement Actions

SAN FRANCISCO, March 27.—Two prohibition abatement suits against prominent downtown cafes were filed in the federal court today by the United States district attorney.

The Orpheum Annex buffet at 187 Dr. Irrell street and the Grant buffet, 35 New Montgomery street, were the two resorts attacked for alleged liquor sales.

The Orpheum Annex is mentioned as being operated by John Coghlan, Frank J. Carr is named as the proprietor of the Grant buffet, which is controlled by the Selfridge company, and the trustees are given as Jesse Lillenthal, J. R. Selfridge and Albert Raymond.

FLAPPER SLANG TRANSLATED IN CO-EDS' EDITION

Fling Taken at Beauty Contests and Old-Time Events Are Recalled.

BERKELEY, March 27.—"Flapper slang," latest edition of slang emanating from Middle-west colleges, is today gone one better by women students at the University of California.

An inter-collegiate dictionary "compiled by California research flappers," and which is planned as a universal language among students, is given its start in today's women's edition of the "Daily Californian."

The new dictionary is dedicated to "athletes, grammarians and victims of the wader." Highlights from the new publication with the origin of each word indicated in brackets follow:

Carpet-bagger, (Washington) commuter.

David, (Chicago) a dig—embryo Phoebe.

Freshette, (Canada) feminine froth.

Fusser, (Oregon Agricultural College) snake.

Fussing, (Oregon Agricultural College) stepping.

Gadget, (Annapolis) doohickey.

Hounds, (Cornell) College Knights.

Necking, (Harvard) queening.

Petcoles, (Georgia Tech) co-eds.

Plebe, (Carnegie Tech) frosh.

Queen, (Harvard) flapper.

Rhino, (Annapolis) feeling blue.

Rook, (O. A. C.) frosh.

Smoke-up, (Stanford) cinch.

FLING AT CONTEST.

Edited entirely by co-eds and with Alma Smith, women's editor of the "Daily Californian" in charge, today's issue of the college publication takes a fling at the beauty contest now being conducted on the campus by the "Pictorial," another university publication.

It says of the contest: "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," quoth the poet—BUT, the recent beauty contest on this campus does not appear to us to be such a thing. It is a thing of the past, and the University by adverse publicity, but also cheapens the women of the whole campus as well as those who were unfortunate enough to bear the brunt of the obviously pervading sense of humor. Would it not be better to use other means than this for advertising of campus magazines?"

OLD TIMES RECALLED.

Another interesting feature of the paper is a column of college events as they were recorded in 1918. Here again the "Daily Californian" has a vintage on the university campus: The Prytanean Fete was held in Idora Park.

The Junior assessment was 25 cents. The Junior assessment was 25 cents.

Stating was declared a curse by Walter Christie, and to alleviate the evil of public rinks, Harmon and Hearst were converted into pavilions.

Portraits of fumed students were printed in the B. and G. Students bought real estate with their spare money.

The Junior Prom began at 9 and lasted until 2 o'clock. The idea of the "Co-op" to seniors only.

The only "steam-heated" barber shop got all the trade. The Occident editor who dared to print an article which alleged that a few university women smoked cigarettes, was dragged out of bed and fly-papery by an indignant mob.

The Axe Rally was held on California field. The Axe Rally was held on California field.

Debutantes were barred from philosophy courses because the professors had "retiring" tendencies. Debating news rated streamer heads and news columns on the front page, and athletic news was squeezed somewhere on the last page of the Californian.

Wife Says Cafe Man Tricked U. S. Judge

Charges of Mrs. Ida Rodolf that her husband, Arthur Rodolf, well-known San Francisco cafe manager, was frequently sent home drunk to her in a taxi-cab by other women, were made to Superior Judge Joseph S. Koford today by Mrs. Rodolf, who is sued by her husband on the charge of desertion, filed a cross-complaint accusing him of mental cruelty.

According to Mrs. Rodolf, her husband, who was convicted a year ago of violating the prohibition laws, had a $500 fine substituted for a six months' jail sentence on the plea that he was needed at his sick wife's bedside, and that he was in the hospital in his divorce complaint that she had deserted him a year earlier.

Both parties were denied a decree by the court today. Rodolf says he forgot to have been in charge of the "Bell Boys' Ball," which they said was to be held Saturday night, March 25, at Native Sons hall, Oakland.

Investigation brought out the following facts: The "Bell Boys' Ball" was not held at Native Sons' hall Saturday night.

The solicitors could not be located at the hotel, where they had been staying.

The printing bill for publishing the programs has not been settled.

Amount involved in the swindle is said to have been $110. The entire stock of the new institution, which asserts that this return on a $3000 investment is a "start in the right direction." This does not include collections from licenses, but it does include redeemed animals and fines.

C. of C. Excursion Canvass Started

Five special committees of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce commenced work this morning on the 125 Oakland street, where the Chamber of Commerce's projected San Joaquin Valley trade building trip.

While this excursion does not leave Oakland until April 17, it is the intention of those in charge to have all their plans completed at least two weeks in advance of starting date, and to this end they are canvassing the business houses now. Prior to this, approximately one hundred different houses had signed orders stating that they were interested in the trip, but until today no attempt had been made to sell tickets.

EEL RIVER FILMS SHOWN.

Motion pictures of the Eel River, showing one of the proposed water supplies for Oakland, were shown this afternoon at room 211, city hall, to the mayor and various city officials, who are members of the public utilities district committee.

Leon de la Barra, former president of Mexico, having accepted a commission from the French government is likely to be deprived of his citizenship in Mexico.

Woman Sways on Bough All Night Over Deep Gorge

WASHINGTON, March 27.—(By International News Service).—After being perched precariously in the topmost branches of a tall pine tree for eighteen hours, defying all attempts to reach her, and threatening continually to jump to her death in a deep ravine below, Annie Lymboropas, an inmate of the St. Elizabeth's insane asylum, was finally rescued this afternoon.

It took the combined efforts of the Washington fire department, the police department and the attendants of the government institution to get her down.

Throughout the night her screams and singing kept the other inmates of the government asylum in a turmoil. When dawn came this morning she was still perched on a wayward limb sixty feet above the ground, making faces at the non-plussed officers below.

At 8 o'clock this morning she had been on her precarious roost for nearly fourteen hours and the perplexed rescuers were fearful that her strength might wane and she would be dashed to the ground.

COLD SNAP MAY RETARD FESTIVAL

SAN JOSE, March 27.—Continued cold Saturday night, with rain and cloudiness following throughout yesterday and last night, today had retarded considerably the burning into blossom of the millions of fruit trees on the floor of the famous Santa Clara "Valley of Heart's Delight," and even the most optimistic of the sponsors of the annual Saratoga Blossom festival, scheduled for next Saturday and Sunday, April 1 and 2, were growing apprehensive.

Fear that a postponement of the festival days for one week would be necessary were freely expressed, although leaders of the festival committee, their preparations for the staging of the event next Saturday and Sunday.

Should the valley be favored with warm, sunny weather during the present week, it was estimated the blossoms would be ready for the next Saturday and Sunday than a week from those dates.

Sheriff George W. Lyle was today joining hands with the Saratoga Improvement Club, and officials of the California Prunus and Apricot Growers' Association in laying plans for the handling of the vast throng of motorists certain to pour into Santa Clara valley from all parts of the state on the two festival days.

Realization of the multitude anticipated led to the plan for appointment of a squad of special deputies to be used in keeping roads clear and traffic moving.

The motorcycle officers of the county, including Charles D. Reade, Warren McGrury, John Pacheco and James Margason, will be in official charge of the traffic work.

Sheldon P. Patterson, chairman of the program committee for the festival, declared today that the work of his committee has progressed most satisfactorily. He stated that Saturday's program of music, athletic events, speech-making and the great choral concert has been completed without a hitch and that everything will be carried out with clock-like precision.

The great chorus of trained singers from all parts of Santa Clara valley, together with the vocalists and orchestra of the College of the Pacific Conservatory of Music, will carry out the open-air concert Sunday afternoon, following Governor Stephens' address, according to the plans as announced. Charles M. Dennis will lead the chorus and Miles A. Dresselke the orchestra.

On Sunday afternoon the choral concert will be rendered by the Peninsula Choral Society of San Mateo, embracing an entirely new and highly trained group of singers under the direction of Captain Featyn Davies, who has been a feature of previous Blossom festivals.

The athletic program Saturday morning and early afternoon will be principally for the pleasure of the children.

Man Faces Trial In Stabbing Case

Charged with having stabbed Angelo Tixiera four times while Tixiera was knocking him down four times, Nicolette Souza was placed on trial today before a jury in Superior Judge Samuel's court in prosecution, which is represented by Deputy District Attorney Wade Snook, claims that Souza called to Tixiera, who was walking with three friends on East Ninth street and Twenty-fifth avenue, and that when Tixiera crossed the street to meet him, Souza stabbed him four times, Tixiera knocking him down after each attack. Souza, through his attorney, Q. J. George, claims having stabbed Tixiera, and asserts that the latter cut himself.

Schanzer in London On Near East Plan

LONDON, March 27.—Signor Schanzer, Italian foreign minister, arrived today from Paris to consult Premier Lloyd George on the Near East settlement reached by the allied foreign ministers at Paris and also on the part the league of nations is to play in the international economic conference at Genoa. It was expected that Premier Lloyd George and Mr. Schanzer would meet late this afternoon.

Worcester, Mass. Veteran Is Here After Trek He Started Last August.

Boosting the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and in particular that organization's convention to be held in Seattle, August 14 to 19, Thomas M. Harney, a former machine gunner with the famous Twenty-sixth (Yankee) Division, started out from Worcester, Mass., to hike to Seattle, on August 9, 1921.

Today he arrived in Oakland, where he will remain until Saturday, when he will push on northward. He will arrive in Seattle in plenty of time to attend the convention.

"I am a walking delegate from Worcester," Harney said today. "I made up my mind that I would have to attend the convention, and I was in France I learned to use the old hob-nail express—and here I am."

While here Harney will attend two meetings of posts of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Lieutenant Haskell F. Waterhouse Post, No. 519, tonight at Woodmen's hall, 3255 East Eighteenth street, and Colonel John Jacob Astor Post, No. 85, Friday night in Memorial hall.

$100,000 Addition to Juvenile Home Asked

A $100,000 addition to the Alameda County Detention Home is to be requested by District Attorney Ezra Decoto and Superior Judge E. C. Robinson at next Thursday's meeting of the board of supervisors. This was announced by Decoto today following conferences with Judge Robinson, Sheriff Frank Barnett and Juvenile Probation Officer "Ollie" Soudagar.

"Because of overcrowded conditions in the detention home, it is frequently necessary to confine boys under twenty-one in the county jail," said Decoto. "This means that the youths are placed under the influence of professional criminals at the most impressionable stage of their lives."

San Leandro Urges Utilities District

SAN LEANDRO, March 27.—San Leandro Board of Trustees will meet tonight in special session to discuss the possibility of a resolution urging the supervisors of Alameda county to call an election for the formation of a public utility district. The proposed election embraces all municipalities within the San Leandro, inclusive, and provides for additional and adequate water supply for the district.

World's Billiard Championship at Stake in 1500-Point Billiards Match

CHICAGO, March 27.—Final preparations were completed today for the 1500-point balking billiard match for the world's championship which starts tonight between Willie Hoppe, former champion, and Jake Schaefer, with the title from Hoppe a few months ago.

The players today were given the same careful physical attention accorded the championship prizefighters a few hours before the contest. Their table and equipment were groomed and prepared just as a racehorse would be before the Kentucky Derby.

Hoppe and Schaefer will depart through short practice sessions at the billiard table and each got outdoors today to see how they would be in good physical shape. Each, however, spent most of the day resting.

Their managers each expressed confidence that their respective players test would react in their favor. Five hundred points will be played on each of the three nights, the balls being shot from the same positions the second and third nights that they were left in at the end of the preceding night's play. A special corps of workmen has been appointed to care for the table and balls. This afternoon the table was erected on the stage at Orchestra Hall, where usually only such personages as John McCormack, Fritz Kreisler and other famous artists appear. At the end of the evening the table will be dismantled and signed to keep the table at the ever temperature will be placed on it.

IS ENGLAND LAND-GRABBING IN THE NORTH PACIFIC?

News despatches of March 19 related that a party of "explorers" sent out by Vilhjalmir Stefansson had raised the flag of the British Empire on Wrangel Island, in the Arctic Ocean, ten degrees north of the Arctic Circle and one of the most important islands in that region. It is a position of domination of the north Siberian coast. It was "discovered" both by Americans and Britishers many decades ago, but due to the failure of continuous occupation this did not disturb Russian sovereignty.

It thus appears that Stefansson has been on a political as well as a scientific mission in his Arctic travels. It is not clear that there is anything of special value on Wrangel Island, and it is not clear why England wants it. And above all, we do not know why Stefansson, who is supposed to be a scientist, is chasing around hunting up annexable land for the British Empire. He is an American by adoption, who took service under the Canadian government and explored the lands north of and contiguous to Canada. His latest adventures in Russian territory in Siberia now appear to have been in the political interest of England.

But this is no time to go around hunting up Russian lands to annex. It is no time for land aggressions anywhere. The world, at least if we are to believe the pretensions of the leading powers, has got past this sort of thing. It is possible that England wants the world to go back where it was in 1914, or to 1905, when Russia was on her back in the war with Japan and England went into Tibet. She took deliberate advantage of Russia at that time and not only established herself at Lhasa, but paved the way for alienating Bhotan which she afterward set up as a buffer state to India on the same footing with Nepal and Sikkim.

The Stefansson episode is the more interesting in view of the asseverations and treaties resulting from the Washington conference on Pacific questions, at which it was explicitly agreed to respect the status quo in the Pacific and to attempt no land-grabbing or aggression against Russia in the present condition of paralysis of that country.

It also stands in a curious light as an apparently related coincident of the piratical expedition inspired and directed by Japan last fall along the Kamchatka coast, the amazing story of which is given to the world for the first time exclusively in THE TRIBUNE of yesterday and today.

Stefansson is reported to have staged his flag-raising proceeding on Wrangel Island on September 21. Japan's pirate expedition of hired out-throats and thieves ravaged the Kamchatka coast in September and October.

There is a very serious situation in Siberia. It has been brought on by the Allied governments and the United States. Japan and England are the only ones who seem to be determined to loot Russia there. Pulling off a game like this does not place England in precise alignment with the spirit and letter of the Washington agreements, and particularly with the four-power Pacific treaty which has just been ratified by the United States Senate.

It cannot be that England calculated the consequences of doing this sort of thing, when the facts became known to the people of this country, if she had any desire to save the conference work from failure. The best thing she now can do is to rectify her acts.

Wrangel Island was first definitely known when Thomas Long, an American whaler, coasted along it in 1867. It was called Wrangel Land until 1879, when the Arctic Explorer Lieutenant De Long, U. S. Navy, established the fact that Wrangel Land was an island. Thomas Long, the whaler, was well known on the East Siberian coast and in the Okhotsk Sea. Lieutenant De Long died of exposure in the Lena River delta, after his ship, the Jeannette, had been crushed in the ice north of Wrangel Island.

It was not far from the spot where the Jeannette was lost that Stefansson's ship, the Karluk, was crushed in the ice many years after. Captain Bartlett, who was in command of the Karluk, landed on Wrangel Island and then made his way to the mainland on the coast of the Chukchee Peninsula and traveled through the Dog Chukchee country to Cape Deshnev.

Russia, whose ownership of Wrangel Island never had been challenged, had two ice breakers on the island coast just before the world war. She was trying to develop communications in that region and had established a regular sailing of the Volunteer Fleet to Soukharnoe at the mouth of the Kolyma. She was doing everything in her power to protect this frontier and her coast facing the Pacific, especially Canada.

Now that Russian government has collapsed, England, if reports are correct, has seized Wrangel Island and raised her flag there. At the same time, Japan, moved by reports that Americans had obtained concessions on the Kamchatka coast, outfitted an expedition of piracy and plunder. Americans and all other foreigners were either murdered or deported from the Kamchatka coast. The flag-raisers of Wrangel Island and the Tachibana-Merkuloff marauders of Kamchatka worked together and together must have an accounting before the world's court of opinion.

Meantime, the government at Washington cannot fail to take cognizance of the proceedings in both areas. The conference treaties of Washington were made to be kept. In the words of one of the distinguished delegates, they "meant what they said and said what they meant."

PIRACY—A MODERN CRIME.

THE TRIBUNE has presented, in yesterday's and today's issues, another amazing story of action in East Siberia. It is the dramatic tale of as bold and daring an expedition of piracy as ever told or conceived. It equals the adventures of Captain Kidd, Morgan, Lafitte and other notorious outlaws of history.

This story is given to the world first by THE TRIBUNE. It is a contribution of Mr. Frederick McCormick, this newspaper's special correspondent in East Siberia for the last ten months. Had it not been for the painstaking and persevering work of investigation of this journalist Japan probably would have been able to conceal her responsibility for the astonishing international crime from the world. A perusal of the articles of yesterday and today will adequately impress the reader of the magnitude and character of the adventure.

The ravishing of the Kamchatka coast and the setting up of a dummy Russian government by Japan to keep other nations from dealing with the people of that region, must of course draw the attention of the federal government at Washington. The situation which Japan has created must be corrected.

Mr. McCormick's revelation concerning the Kamchatka piratical expedition is second in importance only to his exposure of Japan's terrorist plots against Americans in Vladivostok which had for their motive the discrediting of the Stevens Interallied Technical Board for the operation of the East Siberian railways. His exposures of the machinations of the Japanese military staff in the Vladivostok area constitute the most useful journalistic performance of an international character in a decade. His exposure of the piracy along the Kamchatka coast is a notable extension of the lighting-up of this darkest corner of the earth.

ALASKA.

"The present order of things in Alaska is chaotic and impossible. Bureaucratic control has paralyzed and palsied this rich domain, which has actually gone backward for ten years and today is at a standstill." This is the statement of Governor Scott C. Bone of Alaska, the most important part of whose duties is to improve and correct the conditions that have palsied Alaska.

The evidence in support of his view has been accumulating for a long time and is incontrovertible. There are few who will disagree with the stand that there must be a reorganization of the federal control of Alaska, whereby the authority now distributed among about twenty bureaus will be centralized and by which government action can be ordered promptly and as promptly executed.

But the snag which the reorganization plan has run up against is of the same character of that which has hurt Alaska in the past. It is the desire of one political official to get more power than necessary and which he cannot soundly justify. There is no call in any reorganization scheme to transfer the Forest Service from the Department of Agriculture to the Department of the Interior.

It will not interfere with any scheme for the proper administration of federal authority in Alaska to permit the control of the national forests to remain with the Department of Agriculture. And because there is no sound reason for the transfer of the Forest Service there is much opposition and the threat of indefinite delay for the Alaska reorganization program.

The ranks of the mentally unemployed do not change much—they are always of large volume.

The green bird Bogable, who has been our office ornament since St. Patrick's Day has flown his coop and with him has gone that buoyant spirit which has marked the place. It isn't so much that we miss the bird, and we do, as it is his ingratitude. After buying a cage for Bogable, furnishing him with pretty little cups from which to take his birdseed and drink and hanging him high in the sun, he has deserted. It was the spring air, the patches of light chasing each other on the hills while clouds raced above, that drew him out of his reverie and our cage. He squeezed through his bars, leaped from a fourth story window and departed. Birds were meant to be free, but Bogable, like many men and women, was brought up behind conventional and restrictive bars. We wonder how he will get along in a world where there are hawks, air-lifts and persons who covet green feathers for millinery. It was a brave act, the Bogable break for freedom, and done in the season when adventure, gaily- clad, beckons from the slopes. Here's luck to you, old bird, and if you come back, remember we have waiting for you a neat, modern, and gilded cage.

THOSE DAYS ARE GONE.

NOTES and COMMENT

The Turlock Tribune asks a question: "What just now is the big attraction in California? We have three of the most important political figures of the day sojourning here, while the heavyweight questions of the nation must wait until they have thawed out from the expressive cold of the East. Herbert Hoover, member of the Harding government is in the state; William McDougall is here; the United States is also partaking of the bounteous delights of the California spring. Even if it does hold up business for a while, it shows the common sense of the individuals."

"We don't know what may be Herbert Hoover's own wish in the matter," says the Palo Alto Times, "but when he joined the President's cabinet in the then supposedly minor role of Secretary of Commerce, he was by no means retired from politics. Whatever may be Hoover's own attitude, it is apparent from the volume of newspaper comment on the matter that he is being looked upon as a serious possibility for the United States Senate."

On the authority of the Prineville News: "Rev. Harden held the congregation spellbound, while Satan trembled. His inspired voice was heard in Paradise, and the sermon that poured from his lips was the peer of any message ever delivered by DeWitt Talmadge, and better than any ever delivered by Henry Ward Beecher. Many New York churches have asked him to honor their pulpits, but he is in love with the West."

The Medford Mail-Tribune thus takes account of tax-collecting time: "Citizens continue to wander aimlessly over to the county seat, and have money for taxes extracted painfully. The foothills to the west reverberate with agonized squeals intermingled with deep bass groans, and the sturdy oaks in the yard have been loosened around the main roots."

"How can you expect," says the Red Bluff News, "a jury to agree when nobody agrees on anything. The President doesn't agree with the Senate, the Assembly doesn't agree with the governor, the Irish can't agree, and now Theodore Bell can't agree with the Democrats."

"The Bakersfield Californian asks: 'Some fellow down in San Diego or somewhere has announced himself as a candidate for lieutenant-governor. Now, right off quick, can you say who is the present lieutenant-governor?' Certainly—C. C. Young of Berkeley. It is no secret, and should be fairly popular knowledge. Bakersfield is a good ways off."

ISLAND SHIP

"An island, that is, by official fiction, a boat!"

Such is Ascension Island, between Africa and South America, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. It is this island, according to despatches from England, which the British admiralty is seriously considering evacuating as a means of saving the 200,000 odd dollars which it costs British taxpayers annually.

"Ascension Island is unique among British possessions because of the method by which it is governed," continues the bulletin by way of explanation. "A naval captain, under an admiral stationed at Gibraltar, controls the rather limited destiny of the six by seven mile territory for all the world like his fellow captains control their ships. The little garrison and its families, and the servants, who are largely negroes from Liberia—only 200 or 300 inhabitants at most—make up the 'crew' of the good ship 'Ascension. The queer governmental arrangement has worked out most satisfactorily since the island was first occupied by the British in 1815, and has won the praise of such an observer as Charles Darwin, who stopped for a while on Ascension during a voyage for scientific study."

"Ascension is, broadly speaking, a companion isle to St. Helena, 800 miles to the southeast. Both were probably created by the same general volcanic upheaval which pushed a number of pinnacles about the surface of the South Atlantic. But Ascension has not been able to boast of being the place of residence of an exiled monarch, though its occupation was connected in a way with Napoleon's exile. The island was occupied by the British navy in 1815, largely for the purpose of more completely guarding the isolation of the distinguished prisoner. It has since been maintained in the double capacity of a supply station for British naval vessels and the mountain site of a sanatorium for sailors and marines sick as a result of duty on the tropical coast of Africa."

"The isolation of Ascension is more marked even than that of Robinson Crusoe's island. It is 1000 miles from Liberia, the nearest point in Africa, and 1400 miles from the eastern tip of South America. Like practically all of the other islands of the South Atlantic, Ascension was discovered by the Portuguese, who established on the lee shore near an anchorage. Grasses and shrubs have also been planted on the lower uplands."

"No vertebrate life was found on the island. But in the spring it has always been a land of gigantic turtles. Thousands of the reptiles, weighing 500 to 800 pounds each, swarm to the beaches at that time and deposit their eggs in the sand. 'Flocks' of turtles are kept in ponds, and from time to time individuals are made into soup and other delicacies for the garrison."

"There was nothing about Ascension to prove attractive to settlers. All of the lower part of the island was practically without plant life because of drought. Only the upper part of Green Mountain, which reaches a height of more than 2800 feet, supported a growth of grass and shrubs. It is near the summit of this mountain that a sanatorium has been maintained. A limited acreage in the uplands is cultivated to furnish vegetables and fruits for the sanatorium, and for the little hamlet of Georgetown, established on the lee shore near an anchorage. Grasses and shrubs have also been planted on the lower uplands."

About YOUR HEALTH

Why a Lame Back Needs True Scientific Examination

By ROYAL B. COPELAND, M. D.
Commissioner of Health,
New York City.

There are many medical cults specializing in disorders or displacements of the vertebrae—the individual bones making up the backbone or spinal column.

I am always fearful that in his enthusiasm the specialist may over-emphasize the importance of his own field. This statement is made humbly and not critically, because as a specialist I have had to watch myself, and am almost as conscious, I am sure, of my own shortcomings as of the other fellow's.

There is no question that many persons have trouble with the spine, but it is unreasonable to neglect the rest of the body to give exclusive attention to this one region. But when the vertebrae are really disordered there is no doubt of the seriousness of the trouble, and of the importance of wise treatment.

Every one is familiar with the free movements of the knee joints and of the elbow and shoulder joints, but few persons stop to think that the twenty-four separate, and distinct vertebrae of the spine are linked and joined together by similar joint structures.

This means that injury or disease may involve the joints of the backbone, just as they sometimes affect the more familiar joints. When such inflammation involves all the joint structures—the bones, ligaments, cartilage and lining membranes—it is called "arthritis."

Pain on movement of any sort, such as bending the body, may be observed. The jarring incidental to walking hurts. There is tenderness on pressure.

These symptoms indicate inflammation, but, of course, they do not determine the cause of the trouble. They might come from an injury, from inflammation due to pus formation somewhere in the body from tuberculosis, or from malignant disease.

In this trouble there certainly is no excuse for manipulation. The treatment indicated is fixation and rest. By "fixation" I mean strapping with adhesive plaster, support by a specially-made corset, or more substantial bracing by a plaster cast, the exact method to be determined by the doctor who studies the individual case.

This treatment gives temporary relief. The X-ray, blood-tests and careful physical examination will reveal the underlying cause of the difficulty.

When the spinal column is involved it is as if one of the chief pillars of a great structure were disturbed. There must be no temporizing, but thorough methods must be followed to trace the difficulty to its source.

Do not trust to simple local treatment, such as plasters, liniments and massage. Unless the symptoms improve speedily you need careful examination to find out exactly what is wrong.

A lame back may mean one of many things. Find out just what it is and take appropriate treatment.

"It's a hard life," said the traffic policeman.

"What's the trouble?" asked the genial old gentleman.

"I had to call down a fashionable dame just now for violating a traffic law. The look she gave me was bad enough, but the way her poodle dog yawned in my face was positively insulting."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

In Boston.
"And why should I help you?" demanded the Boston citizen.

"Sir," replied the Boston tramp, "I can offer you no coherent reason. Your motives must be altruistic."

This got him a dime.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Question: How Far Did George Go?

The white man—so the story runs—was named George Titus. He owned a string of two-room frame cottages and his tenants exclusively were colored. Very great was his chagrin when a negro man in a fit of pique cut a woman's throat in one of his houses so that she bled to death, leaving a large dark stain on the floor, because immediately the word spread among the black population that the building was haunted and thereafter nobody would rent it, even at reduced rates. For months the cottage stood empty. Then the owner had a bright idea. He went one evening and added up a neat sum of money from George Titus, upon whom by way of beginning, he collected a drink out of a bottle of corn spirits.

"George," said he, "these darkies tell me you know quite a lot about haunts and ghosts and such things."

"Well, suh, Mist' Ferguson," replied George modestly, "I does know a right smart 'bout sich."

"That's good," said the wily white man. "I'm rather an authority myself on such matters. Now, then, speaking as an expert, to another, I want to tell you that gun-barrel shack of mine out here on Clay street, where that woman was killed, is not haunted. She died in a state of grace and her spirit rests in peace."

"But the trouble is that these colored people around this town don't know it and they've given the place a bad name. What I want to do is to prove to them that it's not haunted. And here's the way we're going to do it—you and me. I'm going to hire you to spend tonight in the room where the killing took place. Then, when you come out tomorrow morning and tell your people that nothing happened there during the night I'll be able to rent the house again. I'm going to give you the rest of this bottle of liquor now and a fresh bottle besides. And tomorrow morning I'll hand you a ten dollar bill. How about it?"

That slug of corn whisky already was working. It made George valiant. Besides a white man had appealed to him for professional aid. He consented—after another luscious pull at the flask.

The crafty Ferguson took no chances. Straightway he escorted his newly enlisted aid to the house of tragedy, provided him with a pallet on the floor and left him there in the gathering darkness. But before departing he took the precaution of barring the two windows from the outside and securely locking the front and the rear doors.

Next morning bright and early he came to release his brother expert. The windows still were shuttered, the door still fastened tight; but the house was empty. Also it was in a damaged state. At one side the thin clapboards were burst through, as though a blunt projectile traveling at great speed had struck them with terrific force. From within the shattered ends of planking stood forth encircling the jagged aperture in a sort of sunburst effect.

Upon a splintered tip of one of the boards was a wisp of kinky wool. Upon a paling of the yard fence was a rag, evidently ripped from a shirt sleeve. Otherwise there were no signs of George Titus. He was utterly gone, with only the faintest evidence in the cottage wall to give a clue as to the manner of his departure.

Mr. Ferguson waited all through the summer day for the missing one to turn up. George failed to return. On the second day the white man gave the alarm. A search party was organized—men on horseback with dogs. Bloodhounds took the trail. They followed it from early morning until late that evening.

Just before dusk, in a swamp thirty miles away the lead-dog bayed exultantly. The pursuing posse, with Ferguson in the lead, spurred forward.

Here came the missing George. His face was set toward home. It was a face streaked with dust and dried sweat, torn by briars, wet, drawn, gray with fatigue. His garments were in shreds; his hat was gone. His weary legs tottered under him as he dragged one sore foot after the other. He was a pitiable sight.

Yet in the heart of Mr. Ferguson indignation was stronger than compassion. He rode up alongside the spent and wavering pedestrian.

"Well, by heck, you are certainly the most unreliable nigger in this state!" he said. "Here night before last I make a contract with you for a certain job. I leave you in one of my houses. I come there the next morning and not only are you gone without leaving any word, but one side of my house is busted out. And then I have to leave my business to come hunting for you. And after hunting all over the country I find you here, thirty miles from home, in a swamp. Where in thunder have you been since I last saw you, forty-eight hours ago?"

"Boss," said George, "I've been comin' 'back."

ART.

One of the modern manifestations of art which would baffle Michael Angelo and leave Rembrandt gasping, is the seed catalog. Whence come these prismatic plums, these polychrome prunes, peaches and pears, these chromogenous cabbages and cauliflowers? Michael Angelo could never guess.

The fact is that an entirely new school of art has grown up, a school in which nothing but fruits, flowers and vegetables are studied. This used to be called still life until the widespread enforcement, so to speak, of the Eighteenth Amendment pre-empted that term. In this school the students are divided into classes depending upon what they wish to specialize in. A student usually takes only one vegetable, say a radish. Go on and say it. That's it, a radish. Maybe the next class is specializing in string beans; farther down the hall earnest young men and women are dedicating their lives to portraying the Bermuda onion, with all its delicate nuances of light and shade.

After the students have learned how their special vegetable, fruit or flower really looks, they are given two years' training in painting their particular subject, not how it is, but how it should be. When they can paint peaches twice as large and four times as beautiful as any peach ever could be with any amount of practice, and when they can paint radishes, cucumbers, lettuce, artichokes and string beans so wonderfully the vegetables are ashamed of their own shortcomings, then these artists go out and get jobs illustrating seed catalogs.

Unfortunately for them, while their life is a merry one, it is usually short and comes to an abrupt end. Lincoln said, "You can't fool all the people all the time" before the introduction of the modern seed catalog. Somewhere in this favored land, along about in July, when he begins to compare what came out of the ground with its photograph in the seed catalog, an amateur gardener rushes into the house with wild eyes, grabs his trusty fowling piece and goes gunning for the man who deceived him. That is why the art in the seed catalog looks so fresh and new each season. The artists who painted the previous crop have all been massacred by disappointed and deceived gardeners.

We understand the seed catalog artists are banded together to exterminate all amateur gardeners. The good wishes of the entire parish are with them, in this worthy movement.

BUSINESS AND FINANCE

MEXICAN Petroleum was the central feature at the heavy opening of today's stock market, declining 2 1/2 points in the first few transactions. The reaction was attended by rumors that the Mexican government contemplates a no other advance in oil export taxes. Other speculative shares were under pressure, particularly beet sugar, Studebaker and American Ice; these issues forfeiting one to two points in Wall Street. Recent irregular movements of rails, steels and equipment were resumed, leaders of those groups yielding moderately.

Selling of oils, steels, equipments and motors increased during the morning. Mexican Petroleum extended its decline to 3 points and Gulf States Steel lost 4 1/2. American Can, Pullman, Baldwin, General Electric and Bethlehem reacted 1 to 2 points. Sugars, Chemicals and Shippers displayed weakness. Merchandising and chain store specialties were the only stocks to show real strength. May department stores, Kresge and Phillips-Jones gained 1 to 3 points. Call money opened at 4 1/2 per cent.

Manitowoc Sugar dropped seven points, American Ice 4 1/2. American Can and General Electric 2. Railroad shares also yielded with Northern Pacific, Rock Island and Great Northern preferred losing 1 to 1 1/2. Partial recovery occurred later with the market becoming quieter on the rally.

NEW TARIFF SCHEDULE ON ALMONDS RECOMMENDED. At the solicitation of Senator Hiram W. Johnson the finance committee of the senate has recommended a tariff duty of five cents per pound on unshelled almonds and fifteen cents per pound on shelled almonds. The duty on almonds is virtually assured of passage by that body without change in the new schedules on almonds and walnuts.

When the tariff bill was first taken under consideration the senate committee had tentatively decided upon rates of duty on almonds and walnuts much lower than those finally adopted.

GERMAN MARKS SELL FOR 20 1/2 CENTS PER 100. German exchange rates broke all previous records in the early part of today, marks falling to 20 1/2 per 100 marks. The previous minimum quotation in New York for this remittance was 22 1/2.

REMAINS TRUE 20,000 YEARS Twenty thousand years ago a race of Cave Men dwelt in the Pyrenees Mountains. Fifty-two years ago scientists discovered evidence of their existence and explored the cave cities they had established.

On the walls of these caves and in their tombs was found the first color painting in world history. Decorations representing prehistoric men and women and grotesque animals were found. The coloring was perfect, having remained for 20,000 years because of the use of MINERAL PIGMENTS for the coloring of the paints.

Mineral pigment is the coloring matter of nature — lasting, durable, permanent.

The mineral pigment paint industry has now come to the Oakland side of the San Francisco Bay. The Luning Mineral Products Company, a California industrial corporation, has established and is operating a plant for the manufacture of mineral pigments at Twenty-first and Chancellor streets, Richmond. The plant is operating 24 hours a day. Its product has been adopted and standardized by the leading paint manufacturers of the coast. It is being used by the Southern Pacific Company. The product is the finest that it is possible to manufacture. There is no other plant of the kind west of St. Louis, Missouri. There is a ready market for the product and the Richmond plant is due to grow and prosper.

Under the present financing the output of the plant is to be trebled to meet orders that are pouring in. The profits in sight assure splendid returns.

We offer a limited number of units, consisting of one share of 8% cumulative participating preferred stock and one share of common stock of this company at one dollar per unit. All stock issued is represented by cash in the treasury. No promotion stock.

It is estimated the yield to stockholders will be 30% annually upon the investment. The plant is nearby. It is open for your inspection. It is a home industry. Our office will give you full information on request. Or fill out the coupon, mail it to us, and desired information will be sent to you.

PACIFIC COAST PRICES AND WORLD'S COMMERCE

ONIONS CLIMB TO $10 A HUNDRED; 'GRASS' CHEAPER

Newcomers in Way of Peas and String Beans Make Their Appearance.

Onions were quoted as high as $10 a hundred today in the wholesale market. There was a minimum figure of $3 and it was apparently only for appearances sake. Most of the sales were close to $10 and at noon this was the hard and fast rate, so buyers were complaining. The principal stuff offered was from Australia.

Asparagus was down as low as 16 cents today with a top of 23 cents a pound. The arrivals by the Hunt, Hatch and Co. were about $10 a box of 144 boxes of white 'grass' and 116 of green. The demand was active and the market was clear early.

Some new comers were in the offerings today. Levy and Zentner were offering 20 per cent of the fruit from Florida and the first peas from Brazil, at from 30 to 40 cents.

Sam Herman was boosting peas from Pismo beach, small stuff at 25 cents and Telephone variety at 35 cents.

Arrivals today included 4 cars of bananas; 2 cars of celery; 1 car of Australian onions from San Francisco (diverted); 2 cars of lettuce and 1 car of sprouts. Eggs were a half-cent stronger on ranch rates.

Offerings of cauliflower, onions, rhubarb, turnips, carrots were large.

CHICAGO, March 27.—District Attorney Clynne announced today he had secured the California oranges shipped here for disposal. Examination of the car by U. S. customs showed 20 per cent of the fruit was frost-bitten. Clynne declared, Clynne also said he was investigating the possibility of profiting by commission men and dealers here. He told of one carload of oranges being consigned to a firm in St. Louis going through the hands of three different brokers, each one getting a commission and causing an increase in charges to the consumer.

UTAH, March 27.—Sweet potato growers' Association has organized and the following officers elected: President, A. J. Quist; Secretary, William H. Butcher; Treasurer, T. C. Dahle; directors, H. K. Anderson, J. L. Reese and J. Aspinwall.

A new association expects to form a pool to market the product through a Turlock concern, following somewhat along the line of the Raisin Growers' Association. The growers anticipate increased planting of sweet potatoes next year. The district is the National School of the best sweet potato growing sections of the state. Several growers last year had a yield more than 500 bushels per acre of increased vineyards.

NEW YORK, March 27.—A sample shipment of 5 tons of fresh Argentine fruit, consisting of selected grapes, peaches, apples and lemons from the provinces of Mendoza and San Juan has arrived. The preparation of this shipment has been under the supervision of the National School of Agriculture. Transportation of the fruit from Mendoza to Buenos Aires took place under the supervision of an American company which has agreed to auction it without commission, the proceeds of the sale, less duties and charges, to be divided equally among the original growers. This consignment of fruit is in the nature of a semi-official shipment and is intended to show the New York market what Argentina has to offer in the way of fresh fruits at this season of the year.

An American firm has made a commercial consignment of grapes, peaches and apples from the Argentine. In general the Argentine exporters of fresh fruits have been successful this year and have been able to obtain proper selection and grading. The native market has been very active and the Argentine growers, with few exceptions, do not meet American requirements in this respect.

U. S. Dismisses Suit

Against Bill Posters

WASHINGTON, March 27.—The government moved in the supreme court today to dismiss its case, brought under the Sherman anti-trust laws, against the associated billposters and distributors of the United States and Canada. A basis of settlement satisfactory to the government had been reached, it was said.

Listens-in From Liner on Radio

As the steamer Rochambeau entered New York harbor the other day, Mlle. Renee Foatelli, bound for Los Angeles to write and act her own "movies," got her small radiophone set from her trunk, hooked it up with the antenna of the liner, and listened in on a phone message that was being broadcasted from a point 300 miles inland.

QUESTIONS

Radio Editor TRIBUNE: I have appreciated the publishing in THE TRIBUNE of the new call numbers issued from week to week. The last ones published by the Radio News ended with BGR, and the first you published was BLG. Could you have the intervening calls printed?

W. A. HAMMOND,
3026 Champion street, Oakland.

The intervening letters will be published at a later date, when a complete list of new calls will be out.

Radio Editor TRIBUNE: As I am going to make radio my profession, would like to know the price of the separate course that is going to be taught at the Hotel Oakland.

ROLAND SMITH, Berkeley.

No street address was given so the following information is published here for your guidance. There are two courses, one for amateurs who wish to pass the federal tests to operate a transmitting set, and an advanced course for those who desire to become radio operators on board ships or at least stations. The special price of the amateurs' course to TRIBUNE Radio Club members, which prepares the student to pass the federal tests to operate a transmitting set and which teaches him the continental code, is $10 for three months.

Radio Editor TRIBUNE: I have already sent in my application for membership in the TRIBUNE Radio Club. I live in Cowell, Contra Costa county. It is 26 miles from my house to Nineteenth street and Telegraph avenue, Oakland. My house is within 2000 feet of the Great Western Power Company's electric line carrying 100,000 volts. My house is also within 150 feet of a 22,000 volt line. Would those electric lines have any action on my receiving set?

HOWARD A. WILKIE,
Cowell, Cal.

Believe you would have some difficulty in receiving, due to proximity to power lines. This interference could be reduced to a minimum, however, by placing your receiving antenna at right angles to the power lines.

Radio Editor TRIBUNE: I am a totally blind man and very much interested in radiophones. Will you please answer the following questions, also let me know where I can get literature that an amateur can understand?

1. What is required to install a 500-mile receiving phone, and what is the cost?

2. How can a person hear any one sound, such as a lecture without a concealer from another transmitter interfering or in other words, are the sounds confusing?

3. Believe this is something the blind people here will enjoy very much, and any information you can give us will be greatly appreciated.

JAMES CORNELL,
2127 Blake street, Berkeley.

Not knowing the distance surrounding the installation of your set, the distance at which you can receive can only be guessed at. You are able to receive 300 miles at night.

Radio Editor TRIBUNE: What is considered a long distance receiving with an ordinary crystal set?

I am using a home-made variocoupler, fixed condenser, galena detector, and a 2000 ohm phone. My aerial consists of two wires, 70 feet long and 45 feet high. I have heard stations in Utah, and in California, both in Reno, Nevada, and I also receive all concerts as far south as Los Altos. I think this good receiving.

LOUIS SILVERIA, Hayward.

Radio Editor TRIBUNE: I have a five-plate better than a pipe driven about 6 feet in the ground?

2. What is the wave length of my aerial, diagram of which is enclosed?

3. Do you think it is too long? I have heard music on my crystal as loud as some get it on the aerial set. I've heard Los Angeles, Seattle, Stockton, Sacramento and Gridley concerts.

WESTERN UNION.

No material advantage would be gained. A "Rectigon" or a "Tungar" makes a very efficient charger for an A battery. Either of these may be purchased at any electric supply house.

U. OF C. EXTENSION
RADIO LECTURES
ARE ANNOUNCED

Course Will Start in Week at
St. Francis Hotel; Amateurs
Invited.

To encourage interest in radio, especially among young people of the bay region, the University of California Extension yesterday announced a series of five lectures in radio. The lectures will start a week from tonight, from 8 to 9:30, at the Hotel St. Francis, San Francisco, and will teach something of the fundamentals of wireless telegraphy. The lectures will not teach the code. The lectures will be given by Herbert E. Metcalf.

NOTED ZOOLOGIST DIES.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 27.—Dr. David Gifford Willetts, well known zoologist, died in a hospital at Smith's Landing last night from an illness he contracted several years ago in the Philippine Islands. He had been connected with the United States Public Health Service for many years.

Information on installations can be obtained from amateur sets and found in all the current radio magazines. Two good ones are The Wireless Age and Radio News.

1. A receiver of the distance you specify would consist of some kind of tuning device, such as a loose couple or honeycomb coils, a vacuum tube detector and two stages of amplification. This apparatus would cost about $100 and can be sent to you by any radio supply house in your city.

2. There is very little operating expense attached to the set above, possibly $1 a week.

3. Interference is usually not experienced in radiophone broadcasting, as only one station transmits at a time.

Radio Editor TRIBUNE: My aerial is 15 feet high and 25 high at the other. I have an audio detector set. Can you tell me approximately how far I can receive it?

JAMES CORNELL,
2127 Blake street, Berkeley.
